

FRESH WATER NEWS

2024 MEDIA KIT

13,000+

Coloradans rely on Fresh Water News to stay up-to-date on key water issues

(reached directly through WEco channels, with tens of thousands more reached via news media partnerships)

MISSION

Fresh Water News is a nonprofit news initiative of Water Education Colorado, dedicated to providing nonpartisan news coverage of the water issues that define Colorado and the American West.

We're there when you can't be, tracking the work of lawmakers and regulators, and efforts across the state to conserve water for cities and farms, keep streamflows healthy, align water needs with food production, and so much more.

Founded in 2018, Fresh Water News now reaches tens of thousands of readers through our partnerships with such major media outlets as the Colorado Sun and the Colorado Springs Gazette, as well as news outlets serving the state's vital rural communities, such as the Pagosa Springs Sun, the Aspen Times, and the Sterling Journal Advocate.

Our news coverage is free to our readers and media partners, but our ability to provide original, on-the-ground reporting requires a substantial financial investment. We rely on our members, donors, and not least, underwriters, to keep our electronic news presses rolling. Your support is critical.

News headlines

Top Headlines

Colorado lawmakers to push even harder in 2024 to replace lawns, tackle other major water issues

January 10, 2024 by Jerd Smith

Colorado rivers may shrink by 30% as climate change continues, report says

January 10, 2024 by Jerd Smith, Michael Booth

Denver, Fort Collins among cities in national effort linking water, land, environment

January 3, 2024 by Kelly Bastone

In tense Colorado River talks, Becky Mitchell takes a stand for Colorado and tribal water rights

January 3, 2024 by Shannon Mullane

PRAISE FOR FRESH WATER NEWS

Fresh Water News is a member of the Colorado Press Association, the Society of Professional Journalists, and the Society of Environmental Journalists.

Fresh Water News' reporting is provided via a weekly email news report, a focused web landing page with a news digest, and other news media organizations who choose to carry it, helping to fill critical reporting gaps for local news outlets across the state. Fresh Water News stories are also being converted into nationally broadcast documentaries on Western water. We are a No. 1 source for Coloradans seeking water news coverage.

What our readers say

"I like the emphasis on 'nonpartisan.' The citizens of our country and state are divided in many ways. The last thing I want to read is a scientific article with a partisan bias. Water resources education should be based on the best available facts. In that regard and overall, you are doing a good job. It is imperative to keep the general public informed about the importance of water. Keep up the great work."

— T.J. Burr, Civil Engineer

"I've been meaning to contact you and was reminded again when I saw your story about the buy-and-dry issue in San Luis Valley. Wow! Such a deeply reported and well-written story that really showcases your knowledge about important water issues in Colorado."

— Coleman Cornelius, Colorado State Magazine

"I wanted to comment on the absolutely beautiful article, Squeezed by Two Megafires. Beautiful writing, beautiful use of the language. It was so informative, and I learned so much, I'm going to save it."

— Lavonne Harris, Colorado Springs Reader

AUDIENCE

Fresh Water News is the only independent, nonpartisan, and nonprofit news service in Colorado reporting on water issues. Since its establishment in 2018, Fresh Water News has continued to grow, reaching all corners of the state. As an underwriter, you'll be supporting fact-based water journalism and gaining exposure for your business or organization with our audience of loyal, engaged readers throughout Colorado.

Fresh Water News reaches 5,200 subscribers directly each week through an email news report, and has over 8,000 unique page views each month online. Community members, water professionals, and decision- and policy-makers all rely on this trusted news service to bring them policy-neutral stories that inform their decisions around water. Our readers are geographically diverse, spanning the state of Colorado, from East Slope to West Slope. All stories are published online at www.wateredco.org/fresh-water-news.

Top 9 locations our readers are from: Denver, Colorado Springs, Fort Collins, Lakewood, Boulder, Aurora, Grand Junction, Alamosa, Arvada

Source: Google Analytics

Growing, loyal, and engaged Colorado audience

Email News Report:

Subscribers have grown by 28% since 2018 when reporting began

Open rate average of 26% (has been as high as 30%)

Website:

Average time spent on Fresh Water News articles is 3.5 minutes

8,000+ unique page views per month

Unique page views tripled from year 1 to year 2 of news coverage and continue to climb

Social:

5,000+ social followers

RATES

Our goal is to raise awareness and keep Coloradans current on top water issues so they can make informed decisions about this crucial resource. The trusted and balanced reporting that Fresh Water News delivers to thousands of Coloradans each week requires a significant investment, and we rely on our underwriters and supporters to keep our digital newsroom running.

Underwriting rates for Fresh Water News are competitive with other publications of similar size and scope. All underwriting revenue goes directly toward supporting the ongoing production and distribution of Fresh Water News.

Your support through underwriting will be recognized through ad placement on the website and an organizational highlight in the weekly news report, with frequency dependent on level of support as outlined below.

LEVEL/COST	LOCATION OF RECOGNITION	FREQUENCY	ADDITIONAL BENEFITS FOR ALL UNDERWRITERS
Editorial $2,500	6 months		Recognized as key sponsor in social media posts linking to Fresh Water News articles, reaching more than 10,000+ people total. Frequency will correspond to sponsorship level. Included on our supporter list in Water Education Colorado's annual report for the fiscal year purchased.
	Fresh Water News landing page & individual article pages	Continuous; rotating
	Weekly email news report highlight	1x/month (6 total)
Investigative $5,000	12 months
	Fresh Water News landing page & individual article pages	Continuous; rotating
	Weekly email news report highlight	1x/month (12 total)
Invited to submit a guest blog post to the Your Water Colorado blog on Water Education Colorado's website.
Headlining $10,000	12 months
	Fresh Water News landing page & individual article pages	Continuous; rotating
	Weekly email news report highlight (exclusive)	2x/month (24 total)
Invited to submit a guest blog post to the Your Water Colorado blog on Water Education Colorado's website.

SPECS

As an underwriter of Fresh Water News, your ad will appear directly on the website in a rotating prime sponsor callout section at the top of the Fresh Water News landing page as well as all individual story pages, giving your organization or business exposure to the over 8,000 readers that visit our website each month.

Additionally, your ad will appear in the weekly email news report that reaches over 5,200 subscribers directly. Once a month, for the duration of your purchased ad, you will be highlighted as a key sponsor in the form of your logo or advertisement in the email news report. Exclusive monthly ads are available as a Headlining-level underwriter, giving your organization sole exposure to our thousands of readers.

Artwork requirements

Please submit all ads (or logos) as high-resolution .jpeg or .png file format, with sizing of 800 x 400. Resolution must be at least 300 dpi.

Water Education Colorado believes in impartial, non-advocacy education. Therefore, the editor of Fresh Water News reserves the right to refuse any advertisements that may jeopardize this standard.

CONTACT

Secure your advertisement today by emailing Jayla Poppleton at jayla@wateredco.org

4777 National Western Drive
Denver, CO 80216

(303) 377-4433

wateredco.org